Four Parties in Field

Election Expected About End of November

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—The coming general election will be the first fought with four definite parties—Government, Liberal, National Progressive and Labor—in the field. It will be contested on existing distribution of seats, but under the new election law. What the result will be beyond the most daring of political prophets, except that it is likely to result in the election of powerful groups with the possible formation of a Coalition government. Recent results in Alberta indicated the powerful grip on the prairie provinces of the National Progressive, and the prime minister's speech in London last night is indication that it is against the anti-protectionist views of the National Progressive that the government's campaign will be chiefly directed.

The campaign will be short but keen. The prime minister's announcement of an election before the New Year is taken to indicate that there will be little delay in cabinet reconstruction, and in the issue of writs, with the holding of the election as soon as the necessary official preparations can be made.

Thousands of women will vote who were not enfranchised in the last election. Then the female relatives of soldiers were entitled to the vote. The new election law enfranchises all women, with certain exceptions in the case of women of foreign birth, who are over the age of 21 years. Generally speaking every person, male or female, will be qualified to vote who, not being an Indian or, disally resident on an Indian reservation; (a) is a British subject by birth or naturalization; and (b) is of the full age of 21 years; and (c) has ordinarily resided in Canada for at least 12 months, and in the electoral district, who, no such person seeks to vote for at least two months immediately preceding the issue of the writ of election.

It is provided, however, that any Indian who has served in the naval, military or air forces of Canada in the late war shall be qualified to vote, unless such Indian is otherwise disqualified.

Election day is expected late in November or early in December.

MALCOLM—CARDWELL

One of the prettiest church weddings of the season took place at Grace Presbyterian church, Calgary, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Clifford John Malcolm, of Red Deer, and Miss Edna Verma Cardwell, of Ponoka, were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Laverie. The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. A. A. Graham, of Ponoka, looked charming in a brown traveling suit with hat to match. Mr. Gordon Inglis, organist of Grace church, played the wedding march, and during the signing of the register Miss Brampton rendered a vocal solo. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the Palliser Hotel, where the wedding dinner was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm motored to Banff, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will make their home in Calgary.

The guests included: Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Graham and daughter, Verma; Ponoka; Mr. and Mrs. John Malcolm, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Malcolm, Misses Alberta and Elva Malcolm, Mr. Howard Malcolm, the Misses Brampton, Red Deer; Mrs. H. M. Gordon, Ponoka; Misses Ruth Harrop, E. T. Johnson, Messrs R. Long, Ben McMillan.

Farmers Win in Australia

London, Sept. 2.—The Farmer-Labor combination has a majority of one seat in the general election recently held in the province of Victoria, Australia, according to final returns received here tonight. Generally speaking the majorities of the government candidates were increased. Final returns follow: Government, 32; Labor, 21; Farmers, 12. The parliament of Victoria will assemble on September 6. The state of the parties in the last assembly was: Government, 29; Independent Liberal, 2; Farmers, 13; Labor, 20; Independent Labor, 1.

The election in Victoria was occasioned by the defeat of the Labor government (Nationalist) by a combination of the labor forces and the Country or Farmers' party. The elections of 1919 left the government with a following slightly less than half the membership of the legislative assembly; this gave the balance of power into the hands of the country party led by John Allen.

Thousands of Acres Staked in Oil Claims

With the season fast drawing to a close, announcement is made by officials of the Edmonton land office that the past spring and summer had witnessed the staking of oil claims in the North West territories covering an area of approximately six hundred thousand acres. During the past few days, it is said, the staking of oil claims has been small in number.

D. S. Finnie, acting secretary of the North West Territories, has left Edmonton for Banff following his trip of several months in the north country. At Banff, Mr. Finnie will confer with W. W. Cory, deputy minister of the department of the interior, who is a visitor to the mountain resort.

It is announced that the new land and mineral recording office which was opened at Fort Smith will be kept in operation during the winter months as also the new office which was recently placed into service at Fort Norman. Smith will be the main headquarters for the territories, it is said the office at Norman to rank as a sub-agency under the supervision of a sub-recorder.

Labor to Contest Every Urban Centre

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—The adoption of a gentleman's agreement to operate between the farmers and the independent labor parties in the approaching federal election campaign, was announced last evening to a meeting of the executive of the Independent Labor Party. According to secretary Richard Palmer, of the Labor party, the understanding which has been reached stipulates that labor men shall refrain from entering candidates in rural ridings, but shall support the farmer nominees. The farmers for their part will reciprocate by not contesting the urban constituencies, but shall throw any influence which they may be able to muster behind the labor standard bearers.

Following tonight's meeting officials stated that arrangements had been made to enter labor candidates in practically all the urban constituencies of the province. Their local nominees will be chosen at the mass meeting of the labor representation committee which has been called for Sept. 8. The labor men state that they will evade the tariff issue, and will substitute instead their program of class betterment for the workers. Prominent among the measures which they will advocate will be proposals for the nationalization of banks, for the application of the Plumb plan for the operation of public utilities, for the legislation of the eight hour day, and for the establishment of unemployment insurance and old age pensions.

Halifax, Sept. 6.—Bush fires were still burning yesterday with more or less violence throughout the wooded sections of Nova Scotia. The people of the province are praying for heavy rains to break about a record drought. The lakes and rivers of Nova Scotia are trying up.

JOTTING
DISTRICT

Local News.

O. P. Olson, of Vancouver, is paying our district a business visit.

Albert Wianko is preparing to build a garage on Donald Avenue.

E. E. Woods, of Calgary, has been spending a short vacation with his parents in town.

Dr. H. B. Foster has moved his family to Wetaskiwin, where he has opened an office.

Geo. E. Bowker is so far recovered from his recent accident as to be able to be around the home.

Mrs P. Baker has been enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs Robert Stewart, of Detroit.

A. P. Voileux was rather severely burned about the hands and arms the other day. He was cleaning clothes when the chemicals or gasoline exploded.

Mr and Mrs R. M. Whitecotton have returned from their visit to Vancouver and Banff. Mr Whitecotton's health is much improved by the change.

Dr. and Mrs. Bald and party were out to the Clear Water River, west of Red Deer, for several days last week, and had splendid fishing, trout being very plentiful.

J. Price and son, of Edmonton, visited with Jerome Freeman over the week-end. Mr Price has sold his property on Fisher's Hill to R. W. Nond.

A party of Edmontonians, consisting of Miss A. B. Jones, Miss Sara Gray and Harry Hunter were guests at the Gordon home over the week-end.

A large crowd attended the dance at Howard Russell's barn on Friday evening, which was given in aid of the rest room.

Ripe tomatoes can be seen in a number of our local gardens, and of course the owners are taking no little pride in their success.

Among the many attractive exhibits at the Ponoka fair was that of B. S. Cameron, photographer. He had a display of the photographic art which won the admiration of the many who visited his stand on the fair grounds.

Harvesting is practically over, and threshing has commenced. It is pleasing to report that the crops in many districts are turning out better than expected, and the farmers have been obliged to order extra supplies of twine.

The Herald has received a very interesting letter from John F. Stewart, who is now located at Granger, Washington, and who has a good crop of fruit. He gives an interesting account of his trip to Cuba, having travelled about 10,000 miles through the States and on to Cuba, where he sold his auto. "Cuba is a land of richness, but the people don't know it."

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will be held in the Union Church parlors on Wednesday, September 14th, at 2:45 p.m.

Later Day was fittingly observed on Monday. The town was practically deserted, many parties being out visiting with friends in the country, while duck hunting claimed the attention of many. Due to the drying up of the sloughs, the hunting is not quite so good as in past years.

Jones.—On Friday, September 2nd, to Mr and Mrs C. W. Jones, a daughter.

See Albert Cole, the auctioneer. He can cry your sale.

The Eastside school trustees are to be congratulated on the manner in which the schoolhouse has been renovated. Such attention to the school buildings makes the surroundings more pleasant for the teacher and pupil as well as a credit to the district.

The Union Church Ladies Aid will serve lunch in Reid's Block every Saturday from 10th Sept. to 1st October (1 to 5.30 p.m.). Proceeds in aid of defraying recent improvements on church property.

A force of some sixteen surveyors are operating south of town. They are working on the idea of tapping the Saskatchewan River through to Buffalo Lake, with a view to irrigating the eastern middle parts of the province. The scheme is a big one, but the surveyors believe that it can be accomplished.

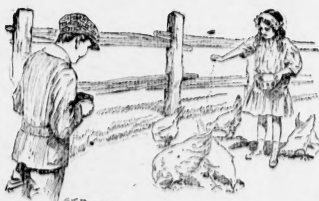

Miss Myrtle Neil, who has been in the employ of the Bank of Commerce for some considerable time, was the guest of honor at a farewell party, given by Miss Elythe Clark and Miss Mary Ingles on Tuesday evening, August 30th, at the home of Miss Clark. Over thirty young people were present, and spent a very pleasant evening in cards, music, etc. After supper Mr Kerr, in a few well-chosen words, presented Miss Neil with a French ivory manicure set, which showed the high esteem in which she is held by her Ponoka friends. Miss Neil left for her home in Saskatchewan last week.

A large number of young friends of Miss Nellie Gordon met at her home Tuesday evening and presented her with a magnificent shower. It was just such a gathering as history records. A crowded house of happy young people; plenty elevating games, music and especially noise, and of course much. Appropriate songs—"Your Eyes Have Told Me So," "Dearest One," etc.—while a reflective mood was struck by the more staid ones when that old reliable, "When You and I Were Young," was given with much feeling. The party broke up when the lights went out.

Another shipment of hats just received—Tams of all kinds, sizes and prices. Come and see them. Hat repairing done while you wait.—Miss E. G. HEADLEY, Milliner.

To Mr. Smith it was a matter of small moment whether Mr. Duff would come to his home or not. He was indulged now and then in a bout of his own with the gentleman, chuckling inordinately when results showed that he had picked his remark at just the right note of contrast to get what he wanted.

For the most part, however, Mr. Smith, at least nominally, spent his time at his legitimate task of studying and copying the Blaisdell family records, of which he was finding a great number. Blaisdell apparently had done very much for himself in his own day, and Mr. Smith told Miss Maggie that it was a great "find" for him.

Miss Maggie seemed pleased. She said that she was glad if he could be of any help to him, and she told him to come whenever he liked. She arranged the table and the big box of papers on a little table in the corner and told him to make himself at home, and she showed papers that she regarded him as quite one of the family, that Mr. Smith might be pardoned for soon considering himself a member of the family.

It was while at work in this corner that he came to so much of Miss Maggie's daily life, and of her habits.

Although many of these visitors were strangers to him, some of them were old friends.

One day it was Mrs. Harle Blaisdell, with a countenance more serene than usual. She was breathless and excited, and her eyes were shining.

She was sitting on the sofa, and she was looking at him with a look of intense interest.

World Agriculture

Important Matters Deal With at the Last Meeting of the International Institute Roman.

At the last general meeting of the International Institute of Agriculture held in Rome and attended by Mr. T. K. Doherty, Chief of the Institute for Canada, many important matters were discussed.

Proposals for increasing the speed in the collection and circulation of crop reports introduced by the Canadian delegate at the previous meeting were adopted.

It was not easy then for Mr. Smith to keep from asking Millicent the latter, by abrupt question of how many round pounds of beans were supported one hundred thousand dollars would buy.

But he did keep from it—by heroic self-reliance and the comforting recollection that she would know him, if she could to take the trouble to reckon it up.

In Millicent's love affair with young Pennock, Mr. Smith was enormous, by interest. Not that he regarded it as a serious matter, but because it seemed to bring into Millicent's life something of the youth and gaiety which he thought she was entitled.

He was almost as concerned as was Miss Maggie, therefore, when Mr. Pennock, now after Mrs. Jane Blaisdell's return, came to her from her "rural tax" (as Frank Blaisdell termed it) the day following, with roses and cheeks and blushing eyes, and "explosions."

"Aunt Maggie, Aunt Maggie, can't you tell me how to get my roses to last longer? I've got them all right, but they don't last long."

"Why, Millicent? Why? And just what is it that you want to do with them? I don't want to be in town, and not at the dance."

A Northern Pioneer

Man From Arctic Feels Cold When On Southern Trip.

Eighty years of age and yet more active mind and more industry than many younger men, Mr. Francis Xavier Laderoute brings with him to Vancouver from the North an interesting tale of hardship and adventure.

Looking at the straight active figure of the octogenarian, it would seem almost a miracle to place him in the "old" category, while his experiences of the north, as related by him, show that the pioneer has had by no means an easy life.

For twenty years Mr. Laderoute has fought the Arctic severity of the land which can only be conquered by physical manhood, and has proved his "stomach" strong as he can do.

Starting life in Eastern Canada, and in his youth a lumberjack on the Ottawa and other rivers, Mr. Laderoute, twenty-three years ago, came west, in response to an advertisement from Vancouver for experienced lumbermen.

In those days, somewhat different from the Vancouver of today, the north called to him, he declared, and would not be denied, and he, he thought, and found what he craved.

The north called to him, he declared, and would not be denied, and he, he thought, and found what he craved.

World Agriculture

Important Matters Deal With at the Last Meeting of the International Institute Roman.

At the last general meeting of the International Institute of Agriculture held in Rome and attended by Mr. T. K. Doherty, Chief of the Institute for Canada, many important matters were discussed.

Proposals for increasing the speed in the collection and circulation of crop reports introduced by the Canadian delegate at the previous meeting were adopted.

It was not easy then for Mr. Smith to keep from asking Millicent the latter, by abrupt question of how many round pounds of beans were supported one hundred thousand dollars would buy.

But he did keep from it—by heroic self-reliance and the comforting recollection that she would know him, if she could to take the trouble to reckon it up.

In Millicent's love affair with young Pennock, Mr. Smith was enormous, by interest. Not that he regarded it as a serious matter, but because it seemed to bring into Millicent's life something of the youth and gaiety which he thought she was entitled.

He was almost as concerned as was Miss Maggie, therefore, when Mr. Pennock, now after Mrs. Jane Blaisdell's return, came to her from her "rural tax" (as Frank Blaisdell termed it) the day following, with roses and cheeks and blushing eyes, and "explosions."

"Aunt Maggie, Aunt Maggie, can't you tell me how to get my roses to last longer? I've got them all right, but they don't last long."

"Why, Millicent? Why? And just what is it that you want to do with them? I don't want to be in town, and not at the dance."

"To be in town, and not at the dance."

Buckhorn

Harvesting is almost over now and crops are fine in this district. Mrs. Lawley and children left for their home in Vancouver last Wednesday after a pleasant visit on the farm.

Nearly all of Buckhorn was in Rimby last Saturday. What could have been the attraction? The thrifty matrons of Buckhorn have been busy after the berries during the past week. Two expeditions went forth and returned with great spoils.

Miss Damsen spent the week-end at her home in Bentley.

Mrs. Clyde Eley is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Friebe.

A shadow social dance will be held in Crystal Springs school on September 16th. Ladies are requested to please bring lunches.

We hear that Mr. Neave Hertz has the finest crop of wheat in the Buckhorn district.

Chris. Collis spent the week-end at Broad View Ranch.

Climax

A rather severe frost visited this section last week, and gardeners have suffered thereby. The injury to grain was slight.

Harvesting is completed and farmers are turning their attention to threshing and building of granaries.

Miss Ingeborg Fjeldheim was taken to the Red River Hospital last Tuesday where she underwent an operation for appendicitis that same afternoon. At latest reports she is doing nicely.

Miss Vada Burton is staying for a time in Bashaw.

Miss Blodwin Williams is stopping for a few weeks north of town.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Newbould spent Sunday in Bashaw.

The Roy Vold and N. Fjeldheim families motored to Red Deer on Sunday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carr Jones on Friday, Sept. 3, a son named.

A number from here attended the farewell reception for Rev. T. E. Jeffroy's in Wood River Hall on Monday.

"ALF'S BUTTON" SHOWING AT EMPRESS

Somewhat the magic-metad of Aladdin's lamp became mixed up with the brass that went to make Alf's button that on the first day that he applied his silver polish with a vigorous arm he was terrified to see a genie appear. The genie announced that he was Alf's slave, after Alf had calmed down somewhat. Even then, Alf was viewed with suspicion the turbulent apparition, but on subsequent occasions he gave families with him until in the end he treated him like a slave and nothing could be further than a center totting around an Oriental invariable unscrupulous who was ready to grant every laughable and extravagant wish.

The genie, on his first appearance, explained that anything Alf wished would be granted. "For money, strike me pink," Alf said in amazement, adding, "by the way, the genie," "I'll give it," but when the slightest call "show a leg" to the genie, Alf was considerably startled, and his master much alarmed. The genie, in response, Alf had observed his first request to "Strike him pink."

However, Alf gets over this predicament with the aid of the genie, and by this time the whole thing is beginning to intrigue him, and he commences looking at the "Alf's Button" show at the Empress Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, September 12 and 13. It gathers interest as it develops, and is hilariously laughable, though not without its whimsical moments. The idea of the picture gets away from the usual path and is full of that kind of humor for which the British Tommy became famous during the war.

PIPELESS FURNACE

Means Comfort and Economy in Home Heating

Every room glowing with comfortable circulating clean warmth, fuel bills cut 33% to 50%—the dirt, dust and odor of stove heating banished forever—that's what the Findlay Pipeless system means to you.

The Findlay Pipeless heats by natural circulation of air through one register. This air circulation system, besides assuring a comfortable temperature throughout the entire house, keeps the air pure, clean and moist at all times. Your cellar, however, remains cool, allowing storage of vegetables, etc.

You do not need to tear your house to pieces to install Findlay's Pipeless Furnace—you can do it in a day without expert help and without disturbance to the household.

Send us the attached coupon, filled in as indicated and we will mail you literature fully descriptive of this unique modern heating plant.

Farmers Will Be Able to Sell Their Grain to the Best Advantage

If They Keep In Touch With Local and Canadian Markets By Subscribing for the

Edmonton Journal

Every mercantile business man studies closely each day the latest quotations concerning the products in which he deals, otherwise he could not intelligently and successfully carry on his business. In the same way, the farmer should be thoroughly acquainted each day with up-to-the-minute grain, live stock, produce, and stock quotations. He will find them all itemized carefully each day in The Edmonton Journal, Northern and Central Alberta's most progressive daily newspaper.

Harvesting is a thing of the past, and the threshing machines are pulling out. Henry Kramer has started his rig.

Sam Clark is still clinging to life although in a very bad condition. Harry McLean has been assisting Frank Nejedlik with his harvest.

C. S. Chapin cut Chas. Dean's grain for him. The grain is good. T. McKeezie purchased Sam Clark's binder and has been keeping it busy.

Hilda Nelson has recovered from her fair day experience, being run over by a car. Miss Nelson was lucky not to have been killed.

Miss Osterlund was home recently on her vacation. She has a position in the city.

The hay crop is very short, and many of the farmers will have to sacrifice their stock this fall. We understand cattle buyers are only offering 2½¢ on foot for cows now.

Mrs. Joe, Brolick attended the funeral of one of her friends in Ponoka on Sept. 3rd.

A number of the farmers are shipping their cream to Wetaskiwin on the truck as the price is so much better up there. Ponoka will need to get busy and get a churn going to hold her trade.

Mr. Maki says his oats on his C.P.R. trucking are so heavy he can hardly get the trailer through them.

Look how far you've gone since your crank-case was cleaned

If you have gone more than 1,000 miles without having your crank-case cleaned, chances are ten to one that your operating expenses are about what they should be. Very likely the sun-gitting and rapidly moving parts in your motor are burning and wearing themselves out at an alarmingly rapid rate, too.

Dirty oil, filled with grit, mineral particles and road dust cannot lubricate. Your crank-case should be thoroughly cleaned and refilled with fresh lubricating oil at least every 1,000 miles—more often if your car gets hard usage.

Imperial Polarine Crank-Case Service Dealers are particularly equipped to deliver 100% cleaning service. Imperial Flushing Oil, the scientific cleaning agent employed by them, gives unsurpassed results which are not possible with kerosene (coal oil) or similar things that are altogether unsuited for crank-case cleaning.

This is economy year. Clean oil and a clean engine will save you a lot of money. To-day: Drive round to one of the addresses listed at the left, or to any dealer who displays the Blue Imperial Crank-Case Service Sign. Prompt reliable crank-case cleaning is assured.
